Six Songs of Caledonia celebrates the rising popularity and diversity of Scottish Trad music, and how rewarding it is to sing. Deeply rooted in the nation's cultural heritage, Trad reflects the love held by so many - residents and visitors alike - for this beautiful country.

I'll Lay Ye Doon Love and Rollin' Home are traditional; Journeys Home and Follow the Heron are uplifting songs in the modern trad style; and Skye Bridge Song and Still We Run are effectively Scottish pop songs.

Notes for conductors

- With the exception of I'll Lay Ye Doon Love (which is written in phonetic Scottish-English) you may make your own decisions about whether/how much the songs should be sung with a Scottish accent, but certainly rolled 'r's are encouraged!
- Singers may wish to use music stands to facilitate clapping, clicking and stomping as required. Percussion instruments may also be used.
- If being performed as a set, the six songs are presented in the suggested order that they should be performed, and you may wish to consider omitting v2 of Still We Run and/or Rollin' Home.
- The songs are arranged and produced by special permission, with copying and performance rights paid to the copyright originators. Please support our music industry by refraining from illegally photocopying any part of this collection beyond the original permission given.
